JARRETT TAKES MEASURES

heedless driving on the part of Chauffeur Johnson, while both he and his load of sailors were said to have been at least partially drunk.

The smashup occurred on King street near Victoria shortly before 7 o'clock Saturday night. In the machine Johnson was driving were five sailors, firemen from the cruiser South Dakota. The express wagon belonging to Lively & Co., liquor dealers carried Manuel Souza, driver, and his 6-year-old son, Johnny Souza. The express wagon was going on King out toward Waikiki and the automobile, driving fast, came down the wrong side of the street, the left side. The wagon was struck with stunning violence, the vehicle being thrown across the street. The auto smashed a wheel, veered first toward the left side of the street and then went on to the right.

Souza and the little boy were hurled to the ground and badly hurt. All of the sailors were jolted and jarred, while two, Hansen and Rohrer, fared badly. Hansen suffering a broken jaw and smashed foot, while Rohrer's hand was crushed. Souza and his son and the two sailors most painfully injured were at once taken to Queen's Hospital.

Johnson was driving the big white seven-seater Winton in which he is a familiar and notorious figure around the city. He has a long and bad record at the police station, showing that he has violated the auto regulations again and again, been arrested a number of times. Recently he figured in the theft of a magneto and some auto tires in an affair so mixed up the police have not yet unravelled it. He is considered a reckless driver, and it is a matter of common knowledge that he drinks far too much for any chauffeur.

The blame for the accident is placed entirely on his shoulders. The fact that he was driving down the left instead of the right-hand side of the street alone proves that he is at fault. He was arrested by Officer Bergau at the scene of the accident a few minutes after it happened. He complained then that he had been struck by another auto without lights and that this had caused him to smash into the express wagon, but nothing was found to corroborate this unlikely story, while several witnesses declared no such thing happened.

All the sailors who figured in the smashup were immediately recovered to rejoin their ship this morning, in time to go to sea.

Fireman Hansen, the most seriously injured, remained longest at Queen's Hospital, leaving there early this morning. He sustained a broken jaw and a damaged foot, but no internal injuries.

PINECTAR DEAL WITH BYRON CLARK COMPLETED

The Pinectar Sales Co., Ltd., held its annual stockholders' meeting Saturday afternoon. The main business transacted was the consummation of the deal by which the Pinectar Sales Co. acquires all of the assets of the Clark Farm Co. for $119,000. With this consideration there was also an instrument by which Byron O. Clark is prevented from entering into the manufacturing of any product made from pines for a period of ten years.

The stockholders expressed their satisfaction to the board of directors for the carrying through of such a favorable deal. Under the new order of affairs the sales company is not dependent upon anyone for its pines to make pinectar, as it can cultivate a little over 2000 tons of fruit per year, making 400,000 gallons of pinectar.

To effect the taking over of the Clark Farm Co., the present capital of the sales company was increased from $10,000 to $200,000. The present stockholders have already taken up $125,000 of the total, so that less than $75,000 need be sold if it is found necessary.
